

The New Colours and Beauty Trends.
By Eva Doppelganger.
Traditionalist and Futurist Fashion Commentator

Well, autumn and winter will soon be upon us with the new season's collections hitting the catwalk. So get ready for 2009 and 2010!

Pretty pinks and romantic rosy flushes are beauty must-haves for any time of year, but the upcoming season will take a modernist twist, with hints of high-tech radiance and sci-fi. Look for delicate pink glows and almost-lacquered wet finishes.

The trend is to long and lean silhouettes, sparkling sequins and slouchy jump-suits with vests taking on a new meaning.

Jewelry is big and bold and heels are clunky. Beaded strappy sandals provide drama.

The word in the salons is that D's collection will go global with vivid colours and adventurous prints, while there's intense energy from K. with shouting, shimmery polka dots in gray and oyster. Rolled-up slouchy pants in understated pale green are anticipated from C., with more shimmer and sparkle coming from F. with his silver trousers.

It's going to be an exciting season full of radiance and glamour. So, forget the recession and enjoy!

The colours for men next season are great - nomad, rapture rose and iron. But boots are out.